

Once I have decided to cancel I don't need someone contacting me with their high pressure tactics. I value my privacy and the serenity and comfort my home offers. I do not need to have my phone ringing constantly only to talk to someone I did not solicit. I am also concerned about the number of people who fall to the high pressure tactics of solicitors and end up spending money that they can ill afford to spend.